

Ebony N. King

Who is Ebony King? Ebony, is a native of Dallas , Texas. She is an author, speaker, poet, First Lady, entrepreneur, creator, philanthropist, and visionary. Of all the adjectives that could be used to describe Ebony the one that fits the most is Conqueror.

From an early age Ebony had to conquer a life filled with extremes. Extreme poverty, rejection and disappointment. It's through her life experiences that Ebony is able to fulfill her life mission of : Light, Love and Lead. The light comes from the time she spends in the presence of God which causes her to love those she comes in contact with and lead them from a place of power.

Ebony is called to the David's of the world. Those who are often overlooked, rejected and underestimated. She says she is called to pull them out of the shadows and anoint them for their journey.

Because of this calling, she founded, Tabitha's Tea Party, a women's ministry designed to do good and help the poor. This organization hosts a monthly bible study who's mission is to Teach, Empower and Apply the Word of God to the lives of women.

Ebony is also the Co-Author of a women's devotional entitled Letters to my Sister. She is the First Lady of The North Bridge Church where her husband, Christopher King, is the Senior Pastor.

As far as the marketplace is concerned, Ebony has a background in management, marketing, social engagement, software, corporate sales and was inducted into the IBM 100% club.

social engagement, software, corporate sales and was inducted into the IBM 100% club. Most recently, she is the CEO of Signature Avenue Consulting where she works with entrepreneurs, business leaders, small businesses, and ministries to help them discover their vision and design strategies to bring their visions to light.

Leading through the arts, Ebony is the Executive Producer of the Lonestar Emmy nominated documentary: 'Girl, Get Up! Rising From Dead Places.' Be on the lookout for her upcoming podcast with her husband entitled 'Before I Let Go,' set to air late 2018. This podcast will challenge listeners to examine their approach to life, relationships and dreams before giving up.

While writing additional literary works and training modules for women who are called to lead, Ebony is currently pursuing her masters in Organizational Leadership with a focus in International Leadership.

Above all, Ebony is grateful for her most rewarding job, being a mother to her daughters: Kristyn and Kree and a bonus mom to her step-daughter, Morgan.
